May 7
"Stand"

Rev. Jeff Liebmann

The Unitarian Universalist Association faces a crisis regarding its stance on anti-racism, anti-oppression, and white supremacy. These are difficult, but vital discussions. How does this issue affect our congregations and what stand, if any, does this Fellowship wish to make?

May 14 Mother's Day
"Arise, All Women Who Have Hearts!"

Worship
Ministry Team

On this Mothers' Day, shall we heed the words of Julia Ward Howe, who urged disarmament and peace? Or must we be willing to go to war, in North Korea, for example, or in Syria, in the name of responsible national defense, or for the sake of defending innocent others?

May 21
"Sangha, Community, Life"

Religious Education
Ministry Team

A church community includes of all ages and spiritual needs, celebrating the intersectionality of religious experience. We will celebrate that community and recognize those who have devoted their time and effort to building connections.

May 28 Memorial Day
"Unfinished Business"

Rev. Jeff Liebmann

This holiday weekend, we will return to a service Rev. Jeff did in previous years. As the church year draws to a close, many questions often remain unanswered – questions of theology, of social justice and action, of Fellowship policies and decisions. Today is your chance to ask those questions openly and receive an answer directly.

Pastoral Care Ministry Team

New to our Fellowship? Just discovered you might need more help with an issue than you had counted on? Our Pastoral Care Ministry Team is here for you. We can provide a meal, a ride, some respite or a supportive ear and a cup of coffee. Don't be shy – we are a covenant family!

Pulpit Ponderings

The Fellowship has undergone many changes in recent years. Through a combination of resignations, retirements, budget reductions, and death, we have completely changed over our staff in a very short number of years.

Unfortunately, each of those staff members took with them many valuable years of experience. They also took with them responsibility portfolios larger than those assigned when they were first hired.

As a result, we now face a situation compared to two years ago where we are severely understaffed and important functions do not receive the attention they deserve. With R.G.'s passing, I believe this situation has reached a critical stage. Therefore, over the next few weeks, I will be talking to ministry teams, committees, and individuals about roles and responsibilities for some of these functions.

We have spent a great deal of time during my tenure here establishing policies, procedures, financial structures, and plans. While important, these tasks are luxuries compared to ensuring that the sump pump works, our children's program is of high quality, our music is professional, and our weekly Sunday service does whatever is needed to meet the spiritual needs of everyone in attendance.

I believe we are at a point in time when we must come together and focus on the core tasks of a church if we are to survive and thrive in the coming months. We must unite in common purpose to serve the crying need for liberal religion in this region. At a time when we have been beaten and even knocked to the mat a few times, we must pick ourselves up, dust ourselves off, and make sure that this beacon of Unitarian Universalism endures.

If you want to get more involved, talk to me. Talk to Ministry Team and Committee chairs. If you see something that needs doing, ask how you can help make it happen.

Minsters talk a lot about stewardship. Some people mistakenly believe that stewardship is all about pledge drives and fundraisers. A steward is someone who cares about and for a church, which may involve writing a check, but also involves volunteering time and energy. It means setting aside differences to come together in common purpose. It means committing oneself not to a corporate entity, but to a home – a spiritual home away from home.

Sacred Grove Pagan Article

This August 21st brings us the first total eclipse here in the United State in 30 years! On that day, the crickets will chirp in the darkness as night falls for 90 seconds at mid-day. Our Ancestors have been enthralled by this indescribable event for over a million years. In the many thousands of years that humans like us have lived, how many were amazed, inspired, scared, or astounded? How many of their spiritualities were forever changed? How many rituals in stone circles did these eclipses inspire? To connect with all of those people – with countless humans both living and dead – is one gift that the coming eclipse can give us. Don't miss it!

If you are important in the life of a child, is there a way for them to experience it with you? You could give them a gift that they'll have for the rest of their lives. Don't let the fear of eye damage stop you from going – simple precautions are all that are needed to guarantee safety.

Google "cloud cover eclipse" to see the best places to go inside the ~60-mile wide path of totality (which does not include Michigan). For full instructions, see my April 2 blog post at humanisticpaganism.com/blog/.

Dozens of millions of people in stare in awe, and this eclipse and will be the most photographed, selfied, live streamed, and documented moment in the history of the Universe up to now. Many places are already overbooked, but with such a wide area, even a parking lot will work. You can see it, and perhaps give a child the experience of a lifetime, if you plan now.

Blessed be
Jon Cleland Host

Religious education is a journey that begins in childhood, but never ends. We all have something to offer each other from the youngest to the most wise. This year in Religious education, our community has been exploring our Principles together through multi-generational programming. Each month is dedicated to a principle.

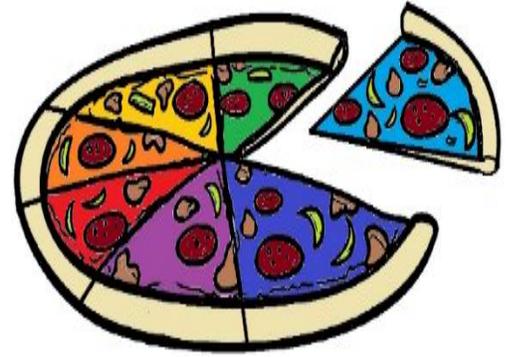

May is dedicated to the seventh principle!

We affirm and respect the interdependent web of all existence of which we are a part. The color for this principle is Violet: Value the Earth, our community, life, all of us.

Pizza and the Principles

Interconnections (Seventh Principle)

Sunday, May 21 After the Service

We will have pizza, salad, and more (please email if you have special food needs). We will have activities celebrating the Seventh Principle as we gather, during the meal (small groups to eat together), and following the meal. The program is for all ages – kid and adult friendly! Come join us!

What to bring: Yourself! If you feel inspired, you can bring a sweet dessert to share, but this is intended as a free event.

Exploration Beginning for the 2017-2018 Program Year

Survey Due May 7

<https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/2L6YC3Q>

The Lifespan Ministry Teams are seeking stories and ideas for next year's 2017-18 Religious Education program. We are accepting survey answers through Sunday May 7. If you have ideas or thoughts you would like to share, this is your opportunity to have input into the program. Please note: the survey software only allows one survey per computer, so if you have more than one family member filling out the survey, let me know and I can provide a link to a separate data collector.

Notes on next year's program: This year the Adult Program realigned its programming with the Children and Youth Program so that we would all be exploring Living the Principles together. Next year we are exploring continuing this shared journey by exploring the Six Sources together. The children's program year will be the Making Meaning year of the program and will visit each of the Six Sources – one per month, with December dedicated to all Six and Unitarian Universalism in general. Keep your eyes open for more news about this from the RE Team!
